

Mr Harish Nachnani

Mr Harish Nachnani is in-charge of Didactic Department at Festo India.

Festo is a world leader in industrial automation and electronics technology for the past 60 years, producing and providing industrial equipment in the pneumatics, process automation and electronics field.

Mr Nachnani has a professional experience of 20 years, and since last 8 years is heading Didactic Department at Festo India and being responsible for the learning and training solutions. He is playing a pivotal role in spearheading the Didactic business at Festo India. He is responsible for the holistic offering covering the course content & curricula development, appropriate equipment selection, laboratory design, planning of training, training of trainers, setting up of training centers, COE's etc.

Mr Nachnani is keen supporter of WorldSkills Competition in India and supporting the same with Regional & National Selections including the India Skills Competition.

He holds Bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering from Govt College, North Gujarat University and Master's in business administration from Pune University.